Improv Comedians Let You Laugh Without Feeling Like You Need A Shower After The Show

(your town)—Nationally known super human improv comedy group, The Panic Squad, will be performing in (your town) on (show date). The three man comedy troupe's unique brand of fast-paced, clean, improvised comedy has received rave reviews from diverse audiences ranging from local churches to top Fortune 500 corporations. Audiences in (your town) can finally have a great laugh together with friends and family of any age or sensitivity.

Andrew Bright, Cliff Prang and Scott Campbell make up The Panic Squad, an improv comedy troupe that is bent on performing comedy that is high quality AND family-friendly. In a style similar to the television hit, "Whose Line Is It Anyway?", they perform fast-paced humor based on audience suggestions and participation. "Improv is great because it is all about relationship," says Bright. "We create together, we laugh together. Everyone loves improv because everyone is an integral part of the show."

It's squeaky clean too. The Panic Squad is showing audiences that you can think fast and stay clean. "Comedy can be clean AND exceptional. It can be wholesome AND ridiculous-crazy-funny," says Panic Squad member Scott Campbell.

On (show date), The Panic Squad will be performing a one-of-a-kind improv comedy show at (your organization), located at (your address). The show will start at (time), and doors open at (time). Tickets are $-- for adults and -- for children and students. Tickets are available at (ticket office), or at the door. For more information on The Panic Squad, please visit
